WANTED! THE RIGHT TYPE OF EDUCATION FOR THE RIGHT TYPES OF MARKETS

By Jeff N Marquis and Kerry J Harrison

Are you up for this challenging prospect? Are you ready to learn how you can increase your profits four fold if you know how to provide the right types of education to those persons who are creating a spiral in demand for specific types of education? Do you know who these people are and why they are clamoring for something that not many people are able to give to them at the present time?

We are going to give you some free tips on how to get started and once you do you will not regret having read this news letter. Pay attention to this because we can guarantee you that your competition does not yet know and when they do they will be racing like crazy to implement our tips.

So here is the secret. You don't have to own a high class school, a big time store, or be afraid of the colleges and universities in order to take advantage of this bonanza! You can do it right at home in your basement or in your living room and we are going to share some free tips with you as to how you can steal the thunder from these large institutions and stores.

We'll tell you that your potential markets are growing rapidly both in size and in demand and because of this the United States has passed legislation to force our educators and those related companies to start complying with the dimensions of these markets. These markets are not going to disappear and in fact they are threatening to grow out of control and this is why legislation has been passed. Other Governments around the world are also passing legislation so you see the problem is very serious and you can become a part of the solution if you want to earn more income. In addition, the seismic evolution of technology along with the tsunami like development of the Internet and the roaring expansion of global trade are all contributing to these demands.

First, we are talking about a market that stats for 2002 told us consisted of about 750 million persons worldwide and 55 million of them alone were Americans. Next we have another market that is expected to make up about 60% of our North American population by 2010. Thirdly we had another market that consisted of about 31 million Americans in 2003, and fourthly we had another market that is estimated to reach about one billion worldwide by the end of 2005. We want to reiterate that in the case of the third market the number of Americans is only a very small portion of the overall global market.

So what are these markets looking for and are unable to find? Very simple! Among other things these consumers are looking to increase their knowledge in a variety of areas from reading self taught books on how to improve their golf swings, a foreign language, various Internet and computer courses, and investment courses. They are also looking for similar types of self help books and manuals and they are demanding to have these on CDs, in easy to read printed manuals, on cassette, or electronically.

So how can you cash in on these facts? Easy! You need to choose a specific field, do the necessary research then put your thoughts into a simple and easy to read form. That's not too difficult now is it? You can write courses and manuals from the comfort of your home and then sell them to these untapped markets.

We'll give you one final free tip and that is the 31 million persons market that we mentioned before, they are looking desperately for persons to provide them with simple and easy to read manuals that are written in easy to understand English. This is because they are our new Americans whose first language is not English.

Finally, how about those millions of businessmen from South and Latin America, Asia, and from the East and Middle East who do business with America and constantly look for some one to coach them in their English speaking skills?

You can learn more about the dimensions of these very lucrative and untapped markets, how to stay ahead of your competition by discovering these markets before they do, how to become indispensable experts who will be paid big dollars for their expertise, and much more by purchasing a copy of the book "Untapped Wealth Discovered" (the safest and richest untapped markets of the 21st century)" written by us.
