WANTED! ALL YOU PRESENT AND BUDDING HEALTH CARE WORKERS

By Jeff N Marquis and Kerry J Harrison

This is an urgent call for anyone who is either in the health care

Industry, or for anyone who is thinking of entering into the health care industry. Uncle Sam is looking for your skills and services and he is willing to pay very well for your knowledge and expertise. We think that you owe it to yourself to read these few lines before you do anything else.

Why is Uncle Sam so desperately looking for you health care workers? Why is he willing to pay you big bucks? For the price of absolutely nothing we are going to tell you and we assure you that our advice is going to put you way ahead of the game.

You must be aware that as time marches on our population is aging more rapidly. In fact it is estimated that for North America alone our seniors will make up about 60% of our population by the year 2010. You must also be aware that an aging population is going to be faced with more diseases and afflictions that naturally accompany the aging process. Most important of all you must be conscious of the fact that it is practically impossible to halt both the aging process and entirely eliminate disabling diseases. These two circumstances are guaranteed facts of life and we have absolutely no choice in the matter.

As of 2002 one in every thirteen persons in North America was a diabetic and Diabetes is one of the leading causes of blindness today. This is not all when it comes to this particular group of consumers. As of 2003 it was estimated that there were about 171 million global diabetics an 18.2 million of them were Americans and both the United Nations and the World Health Organization are predicting that by 2025 this global stat will surpass the 228 million mark. These two organizations are very concerned about this growing consumer market and Uncle Sam is already starting to panic. As a matter of fact our American government has already begun to implement programs to train and hire skilled health care professionals and they are offering very handsome pay packages.

There is more for you to read about here as we feel that you should be told some very important additional facts. As of 2002 there was an estimated 750 million persons of special needs around the world and 55 million of these were Americans. All of these global markets are growing rapidly and as of now no one is in a position to halt their growth. Think about it! There are three very large global markets with healthy consumer growth and spiraling demand. Growth is expected to continue way past our lifetime and these consumers are not just the only ones who are looking for your skills and dedication. Uncle Sam is looking for you, other world governments are also seeking your services, and large organizations such as the World Health Organization and the United Nations are also shopping for your services.

So how does this apply to you? What can you do in order to ensure that your expertise will be in high demand? Simple! You need to obtain the necessary knowledge and skills that will enable you to fill the demands of these consumers that we have just mentioned.

We can assure you that Uncle Sam is not the only one who is desperately seeking your expertise. There are some very important Governments worldwide, some large world organizations, and some noted industries that are looking for you as well.

They are all seeking such persons as eye surgeons, specialists of such diseases as Diabetes and cancer and other similar disabling diseases, and researchers who can find solutions to deadly viruses.

They are also in desperate need of nurses, pharmacists, and other health care workers. They are also looking for massage therapists, occupational therapists, physeo therapists, and other similar types of therapists.

They are also looking for more companies to sell products that cater to the needs of our special needs population. Products such as: products for the visually impaired, the physically disabled, and specialty foods for those who need to have it.

Uncle Sam has been spending billions of dollars to stock pile these types of products because he is also thinking of those hundreds of thousands of soldiers who will probably need them if they are wounded in wars abroad or in terrorist attacks at home. In addition, Uncle Sam is also spending very big bucks to provide the services that are being demanded by our special needs consumers markets.

Don't dismiss these markets too lightly. They are financially influential and this is why Uncle Sam has passed legislation that will penalize any company who fails to meet the demands of our very important consumers. Also, don't limit your horizons to just America. The entire world can be at your feet if you choose to listen to these words.

You can learn more about the dimensions of these very lucrative and untapped markets, how to stay ahead of your competition by discovering these markets before they do, how to become indispensable experts who will be paid big dollars for their expertise, and much more by purchasing a copy of the book "Untapped Wealth Discovered" (the safest and richest untapped markets of the 21st century)" written by us.
